

Costs and margins concerning products and services provided by the Bank

The costs and margins related to an investment service and financial instrument are made available to Clients before (ex-ante) and after (ex-post) the conclusion of a transaction.

With regard to Clients who are classified as the Retail Client, the Bank also presents information on costs in the Key Information Documents (KID) in accordance with the PRIIP Regulation.

In connection with the conclusion of transactions on financial markets products, covered by the MiFID II regime, the Bank may charge transactional costs, which are included in the price of the quoted product. The costs are one-off - entry costs are charged when entering into transaction with the Client. If the Client requests to settle (partially or completely) the transaction before the date agreed with the Bank, the Bank may charge the transaction closing costs.

Below, the Bank presents the maximum levels of costs. The real levels of cost for a specific transaction depend on such factors as: transaction size, instrument liquidity, market conditions, cost of position financing, market risk, counterparty credit risk and operational risk.

Product	Maximum margin value		Cost of the service (in PLN)	Sample amount / nominal value of the transaction (in PLN) ¹
	Percentage of the transaction amount / transaction nominal amount	Nominal for an example transaction amount / nominal value (in PLN)
FX Forward/NDF²	1,50%	1 500	0	100 000
FX Options	1,50%	1 500	0	100 000

In Table 2, the Bank presents the margin values which are calculated as the average of the margin values used in customer transactions in the period January 2024 - December 2024, excluding interbank market transactions and transactions submitted to Clearing Houses (CCP).

In addition to the aforementioned margins, in the case of transactions on securities, the client may incur additional costs related to the maintenance of the securities account. Information on the amount of charges for maintaining a securities account is provided by the entity that maintains such a customer account.

The Bank provides annual ex-post information on the total costs associated with financial instruments.
